By David Lawrence.

WASHINGTON, May 11. (Copyright 1939.)-Mexico may seem overthere's a silver lining beneath. Before many days the situation will have clarified. There will be an ad interim President pamed by agreement between Generals Pablo Gongales and Alvaro Obregon, the two chiefs of the new revolution, and the programme of the United States Gov rnment upon which recognition will be conditioned will be revealed.

Two factors are necessary to solve Mexico's problems-adjustment of external relations, particularly with the United States, and satisfaction of internal demands for a democratic government, free from the tyrannical and dictatorial abuses of the Carranza re-
